Working for a World Free of Nuclear Weapons

Former Secretaries of State George P. Shultz and Henry A. Kissinger have joined with former Senator Sam Nunn and former Defense Secretary William J. Perry in calling on the United States to work toward total nuclear disarmament. The United States has a nuclear arsenal of more than 6,000 weapons.

MAKE PEACE AN ELECTION-YEAR ISSUE

Urge all candidates running for Congress to agree to work to cut the size of the nuclear arsenal by 50 percent.
